

by VICRILA

Since 1890, Vicrila has been working with state-of-the-art quality methods and tools to bring to the hospitality industry glasses suited for every type of use. A full range of customer demands can be met through the Vicrila range, including a tempered glassware selection.

The section of tempered glassware offers up to five times extra resistance to shock and is also able to resist sudden temperate changes without risk of breakage.

Legislative requirements now restrict some venues to tempered glassware only. Please check with your local authority for requirements.
